

Kids put their heart into capital show

■ STAGE-STRUCK stars of the future will get their curtain call in Edinburgh this weekend.

■ They're the youngsters, all aged from eight to 14, who form the cast of "Crystal and the Golden Heart".

■ The colourful fantasy adventure is the first show staged by Edinburgh Youth Theatre's new junior section.

■ "We started the junior group as we had pressure from the younger sisters and brothers of members of our senior group," explained the director, Ian Dewar.

■ "Crystal and the Golden Heart" will be performed at Broughton High School Theatre, Carrington Road, at 7.15pm on February 13-15, with an additional matinee on February 15 at 2.30pm.

■ Pictured from left are the show's young stars, Jill Beveridge (12) as Prince Peter, Claire Stout (13) as Crystal and Jane Sandeman (12) as the Wicked Witch.
